Course Content

The course will mainly cover the shooting head techniques.

We will make sure you all know the basics and essentials about double hand casting. Learn to adapt your equipment, and how to adjust and cut your own custom adapted shooting head. Learn how to use shooting heads with various sinking rates as an alternative to using a spinning rod in high water. Plenty of practice to make a proper Underhand Cast. Different styles among the different casting techniques will also be covered.

For those interested, we will also cover the classic Speycast with mid to full belly lines. The advantages for each style will be highlighted together with how to pick out the best of them all.

For the remainder of the time we'll focus on fishing technique, how to present the fly and so on..... And of course – you're going to fish while you practise, and while you practise, if you present your fly in a way the salmon like... suddenly you may get a take!

The number of participants is limited to 10-12.
